

ABSTRACT

An architecture and methodology for designing, deploying, and managing a distributed application onto a distributed computing system is described.